Goal

- Body Kinesthesia
- Team Work
- Learning in Game

Reflection

- This is the first performance class this semester. Using the body to perform number is an interesting lesson. Before the end of the class, we invite the students to share their learning experience today. They like to perform number one and seven because these two numbers are easy to perform.
